ADDRESS: 50 St. Paul Street, Boonsboro, MD

OWNER/LOT NUMBER/ACCESS: private

BUILDING DATE: late 19th, early 20th century?

50 St. Paul Street is a northwest-facing, two-and-a-half-story, three-bay, frame, freestanding, Queen Anne residential structure. The building, which is set back from the public-right-of-way on an landscaped lawn, rests on a stone foundation. It has a cross-gable, artificial roll roof with open eaves, two brick chimneys, and decorative bargeboards. A flat-roof eastlake porch extends across the facade of the house and protects the entrance. The door is typical of St. Paul Street--the upper portion is glazed and the lower portion has two wood panels. The transom has two lights. Fenestration includes double-hung, two-over-two sash windows with shutters. The structure has a large, two-story ell with an open porch. The front of the property is defined by a concrete retaining wall.

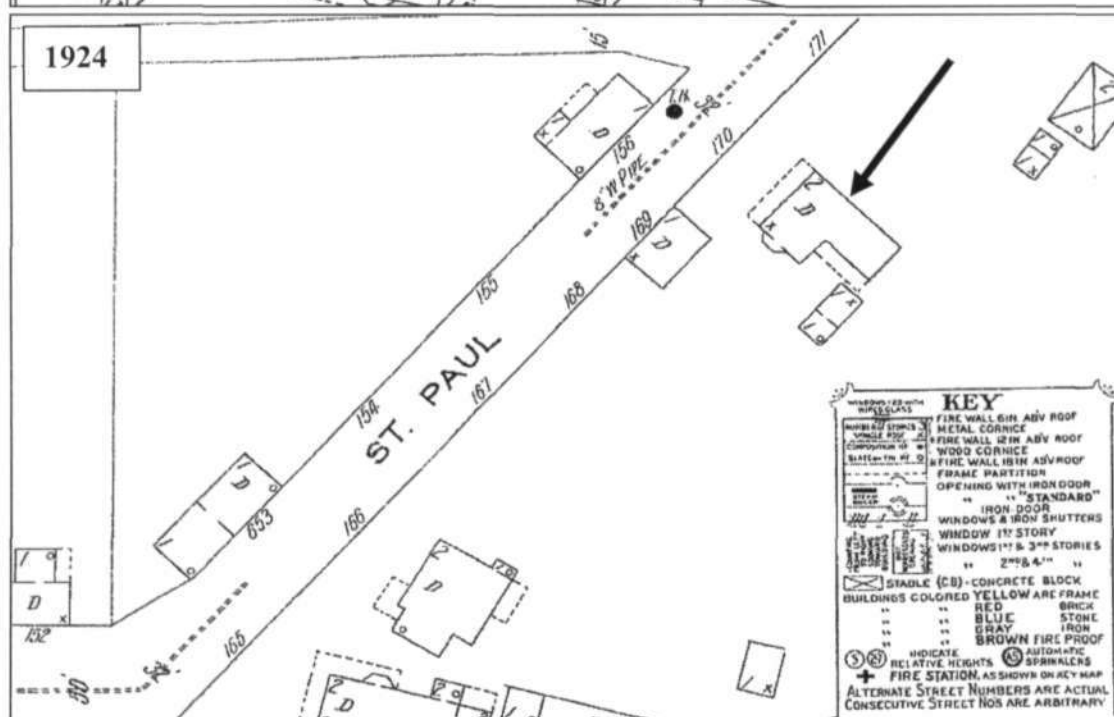

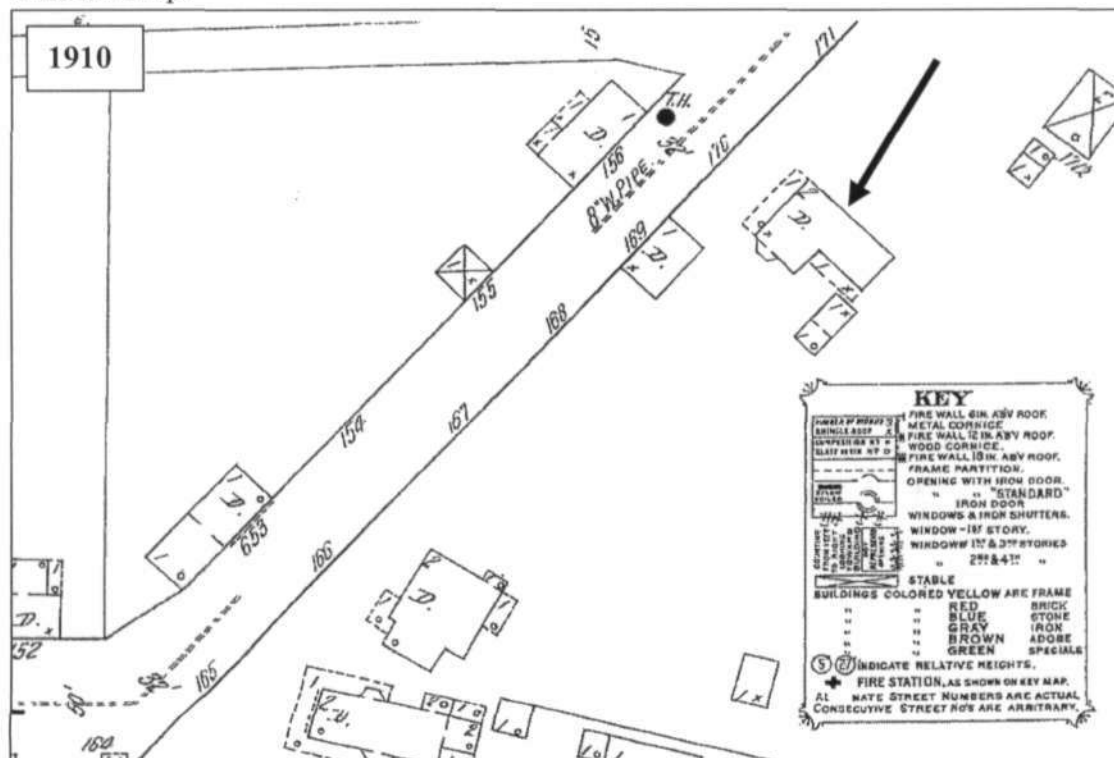

A building of similar configuration is indicated at this location on the 1877 map of the town. However, the style of the building indicates that it was probably constructed later. It is possible that an earlier structure was either replaced by the extant one or was extensively remodeled. The 1910-1940 Sanborn maps of Boonsboro show the extant structure and number it 170 St. Paul Street.

The building is within the Western Maryland Geographic Organization, the probable Development Period of Industrial/Urban Dominance, and falls within the Historic Period Theme of Architecture, Landscape Architecture, and Community Planning.
